

The Wine Correspondent Alliance Scholarship Award was created and designed to aid students entering wine-related industries by providing supplementary financial resources and to increase diversity in trained professionals that undertake studies in enology, sustainability, viticulture, virology, health aspects of food and wine, and the economics of wine, wineries and vineyards.

Each award provides up to $2,000 for the year. Other awards may apply.

The Wine Correspondent Alliance Foundation is an independent, nonprofit corporation that raises private gifts in support of the Alliance and as such may legally consider ethnicity in awarding scholarships.

Recipients must have high school or college graduates' degrees and must be legal citizens of the United States. Students' academic qualifications, extracurricular activities and financial need are considered in selection.
